FOR A WORKSHOP ON:

FAMILY MATTERS: ENGAGING FAMILIES IN YOUR PROGRAM

Topics will include: Welcoming Families; Positive Parent-Child Relationships; Effective Transitions; and Families as Life Long Learners

Positive parent-child relationships provide the foundation for children's learning. With parents' sensitive, responsive, and predictable care, young children develop the skills they need to succeed in life. Through positive parent-child interactions, children learn skills they need to engage with others and to succeed in different environments. They learn how to manage their emotions and behaviors and establish healthy relationships with adults and peers and how to adjust to new situations and to resolve conflicts. Through this workshop, you will be provided strategies to positively engage families in their child's early childhood program.

Date: Saturday, May 8, 2014
